

Future Fire Project

Empowering passion and purpose

The Future Fire Project is an initiative by Future Radio aimed at rewarding excellence in the arts. We at Future Radio are all about the passionate pursuit of purpose and, through this project, we want to identify worthy artists and help them reach their full potential. As artist ourselves, we understand the struggle and frustration of not being able to take that next big step, not because of a lack of vision, hard work or talent, but because of a lack of resources. The Future Fire Project aims to empower deserving artists by equipping them with the necessary tools to follow their passion and fulfil their purpose.

Anybody who displays passion, a strong work ethic and determination in any form of the arts, are ideal Future Fire candidates. We need you to help us identify worthy candidates by following the Future Fire Project link on our website, www.futureradio.co.za.

If the potential candidate meets the above-mentioned criteria we will, along with our community and partners, try our best to assist in providing them with the necessary equipment to help them take the next step on their journey.

Future Radio will keep the process as transparent as possible by documenting each story. Please note that this is not a charity and even though we recognise the need for upliftment, this project is geared towards recognising artistic prowess and empowering deserving individuals.

We love a great story! Together we can write the best ones to ensure a future that's filled with art. Remember, we are the Future.
